Account recovery

Reference document / Support knowledge

Account recovery: use the official campus identity portal to reset your password. Never send credentials to a person or an external website.

Account recovery: further assistance

If account recovery does not work, contact the verified IT help desk. Staff will verify your identity through the official process.

Before you begin

Use a device you trust. Navigate to the campus identity portal using a saved official bookmark or a verified campus directory. Check the destination before entering any account information.

If verification fails

Do not reuse a temporary code from another request. Contact the verified IT help desk and explain the error. The help desk will use the official identity-verification process.
